Great Business Losses Due to Neglect

W. WITHERS MILLER

President of the Polk-Miller Drug Company, Richmond, Va., is authority for the following extraordinary statement:

"I estimate that the business men of this country could increase their efficiency fully ten per cent by taking an occasional laxative and not neglecting the bowels as most of them do."

He also said that if the Department of Commerce in Washington would present each business man in the country with a box of Rexall Orderlies, it would be of great benefit to the national welfare. Rexall Orderlies are prompt in action, pleasant to take and never gripe, can be used by men, women or children, and are just the thing for toning up sluggish livers.

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative. Trial size, 10 cents.

John Travis says a man can be patient with any woman but the one he is married to.

Mrs. Emma Crowe says men imagine they know what suffering is, but they are mere pikers compared to a fat woman whose shoes are so tight that she can't stand up and whose corset is so tight she can't sit down.

Uncle Dock Green says if all the girls were wealthy and also deaf and dumb, there wouldn't be any bachelors in this country.

KENTUCKY'S ROAD COMMISSIONER

Robert C. Terrell Has Successfully Put State Good Road Laws Into Operation

HEAD OF STATE DEPARTMENT

Called From the Chair of Rural and Highway Engineering of State University by Governor McCreary—Great Work Accomplished During the Past Three Years in Blue Grass State.

Frankfort—Kentucky's Road Commissioner, Robert C. Terrell, who has successfully put into operation the good roads laws of Kentucky and for the past three years has been the head of the road department, was born near Bedford, Trimble county, Kentucky, in 1884. After finishing the common school of that county, he entered the State University of Kentucky and graduated from that institution in 1906, receiving the degree of bachelor of engineering, and was given the master's degree in civil engineering in 1908.

Immediately after receiving his degree in 1906, he took charge of the location of the Duck Fork extension of the Louisville & Atlanta railway, now a portion of the L. & N. system. In addition to locating the road, Mr. Terrell mapped and opened up a large coal field for the Kentucky River Coal & Coke Co., which was afterwards leased by the Big Hill Coal Co. of Pennsylvania. In June, 1907, after completing the work with the Kentucky River Coal & Coke Co., Mr. Terrell was employed by the Arkansas, Louisiana & Gulf Railway at Hamburg, Arkansas, as assistant engineer on twenty miles of construction, where he remained until its completion in the summer of 1908.

ROBERT C. TERRELL
Kentucky Road Commissioner.

Through Mr. Terrell's influence with the Board of Trustees of the State University of Kentucky, there was established the chair of rural and highway engineering in the Department of Civil Engineering of that institution. He was unanimously chosen professor of that chair. He immediately began the campaign to secure not only the undergraduate students in the course, but also arranged to have the practical road builders of the state to take short courses and attend lectures during the winter season. The course grew very popular, and many students were enrolled in both the two and four-year courses for undergraduate students and large numbers of the county road men, as well as the county judges and magistrates matriculated for the lecture courses.

In 1912, when the Department of Public Roads was established by the General Assembly, Governor McCreary called Mr. Terrell from the chair of rural and highway engineering of State University of Kentucky and appointed him the first Commissioner of Public Roads of Kentucky. Mr. Terrell assumed his duties on July 1, 1912, and has since given his time and attention to the upbuilding of the road system of the state. Through his efforts and the showing made by the department prior to the meeting of the General Assembly of 1914 was made possible the passage of the state aid road laws in Kentucky, which provide for intercounty seat system of highways and a five-cent tax, together with the license tax on automobiles to be spent for the construction of the state system of highways, the state paying one-half the cost and the county one-half the cost of such improvement.

Mr. Terrell, through his splendid corps of assistants and thorough organization, has had active supervision and charge of the preparation of the plans, specifications and estimates of cost and actual construction of more than one thousand miles of road, and has thoroughly demonstrated to the citizens of the Commonwealth of Kentucky the advantage of having roads constructed on scientific principles, and has made popular the new road laws and has been successful in securing the co-operation of the county officials throughout the state.

Mr. Terrell, when interviewed on the subject, stated he was well pleased with the success of the new road laws, and that a good showing had been made this year, and that fully fifty per cent more work would be accomplished during the year 1916, as the county officers of nearly every county in the state have already signified their intention of taking their part of the state aid fund for the coming year, and many more counties are preparing to vote bond issues.

TANLAC SECURES HIGHEST RECORD

Quality Tells the Interesting Story of this Extraordinary Medicine.

No other medicine ever has approached the wonderful record of Tanlac. Its success is a romance of the staid business world—a success built on merit so unusual that in just nine months after Tanlac had been introduced, one million bottles had been sold to men and women who had learned its superior qualities for the relief of ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys and catarrhal affections.

Tanlac appeals to the best people everywhere. These are the men and women who judge intelligently and impartially, and the result always is a Tanlac verdict. Upon the endorsement of many thousands of well-known people rests the great and secure popularity of Tanlac.

Those who take Tanlac always return for the second bottle because the first few doses establish its merits. Tanlac is so efficient and pure, it at once makes known its value in derangements of the stomach, indigestion, upset nerves and debility.

Tanlac, that has come to be generally known as the Master Medicine, may now be obtained in Marion, Ky., at the J. H. Orme Drug Co., where it is explained daily to many people, and may also be obtained at the A. T. Brown Drug Co in Blackford, Ky.

Keep Our Memory Green.

While we must all sooner or later know the sadness of earthly parting the doubt and gloom that once hung over the grave have been dispelled by a higher and holier understanding of God's laws. Every heart that throbs must know this momentous sorrow—death—some day. The innocent babe, the romping boy, the sweet maiden, the comely matron and the old man will all gather in the silent halls of death, some day.

As we stand within the sacred precincts of the tomb where the calm of Heaven's benediction rests we are consoled by that Divine promise of a life beyond, and the thought that our dear ones sleep in everlasting peace. Here may the heart find balm in undisturbed reverie—here may it unburden its care in sweet and holy communion. Here is where beauty and solace for the living and peace and rest for the departed is found.

The desire to remember and be remembered after death is innate with all mankind. Each century is studded with its memorials.

No monument can be too noble; none too simple. The little head stone in the country churchyard speaks to the passerby as eloquently as the massive tomb of Cyrus. Each is the heaven born expression of love and reverence.

Every flower that blooms, every bird that sings, every heart that beats, echoes the prayer—"God Keep our Memory Green." Adv. Written by G. B. Johnson.

JAMES PERRY PIERCE

Passes Away at His Palatial Home On North Main Street Tuesday Morning.

Judge J. P. Pierce one of the city's and county's oldest and best known residents, died Tuesday morning at 5:30 o'clock of cirrhosis of the liver with which he had been afflicted for some time. He had been confined to his room and bed much of the time for several months gradually growing weaker until relieved by death.

He is survived by his second wife, who was Mrs. Ellie Cox Langley to whom he was married about nineteen years ago, and their one daughter, Miss Miriam, also five children by his first wife, who was Miss Emeline Ralston and to whom he was married in Nov. 1860, and who died July 21st, 1895. The surviving children of hers are Mrs. Florence Yandell, wife of W. B. Yandell, Cortez J., Ira C. Pierce, of this city; Norvel L. Pierce, of Woodville, Miss.; and G. Collin Pierce, of St. Louis, Mo.; two brothers, George, of Paducah; and John A., of Salem; and one sister, Mrs. Greenlee, of California, also survive.

Judge Pierce was a life long member of the Baptist church and professed faith in early manhood and united with the church at Caldwell Springs, where he then lived in the southern part of the county. He moved with his family to Marion about thirty-five years ago, and was a charter member of the First Baptist church here in which he was also a deacon. He was honored with the office of superintendent of the Sunday school, which office he held for twenty-five years. Judge Pierce held many offices of trust from the people. He was a member of the Grand Jurors of this county, and a member of the board of directors of the local bank and the local school board.

He was always interested in school, church, municipal and state upbuilding and was a leader of more than ordinary ability. James Perry Pierce was born in Tennessee, Dec. 6th, 1841, moved to Crittenden county to childhood with his parents, and had resided in the county two-thirds of a century and in the city of Marion one-third of a century. Died Jan. 18th, 1916 at 5:30 o'clock, a. m. Age, 75 years 1 month and 12 days.

The funeral was held at the residence on north Main street at 2:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. B. Trotter officiating. The interment was in the Pierce lot in the new cemetery. There were many beautiful floral offerings.

He was at liberty in El Paso on bond for a time, but after General Orozco jumped his bond and fled, Huerta was arrested as a military prisoner and detained in Fort Bliss. Orozco later was killed in a battle with deputies near Van Horn, Texas.

CO-OPERATION THE CHIEF SUBJECT OF

Big Farmers Meeting Held at Lexington, Kentucky Last Week.

LARGE CROWDS IN CITY

Purpose of Breeding Bureau Explained by Hooper in Absence of Camden.

"In combatting the disease, purgatives and a heart stimulant are valuable. But the best remedy is a change of feed. Of course this is often expensive, but I believe it is cheaper to effect an absolute change rather than wait to determine which constituent of the feed contains the poisonous substance."

A resolution commending the work of the Experiment Station in its efforts to help the horse, mule and jack breeders of Kentucky was offered by T. J. Biggerstaff, of Mt. Sterling, and adopted by a unanimous vote. It follows:

"The Kentucky Horse, Jack and Mule Breeders' Association, at its meeting in Lexington on January 6th, desires to go on record as endorsing the work in horse husbandry that has been carried on by the Experiment Station during the past two years. We especially desire to commend such studies as the feeding of mules, the experimental study of the virility of stallions, tests for pregnancy in mares, the study of the inheritance of coat colors in horses, the breeding and raising of saddle horses, and the valuable work that has been done in the standardization of Kentucky jack stock. We also desire to commend the recent action of the Kentucky Racing Commission in placing a number of thoroughbred stallions for breeding purposes, under the control and supervision of the Department of Animal Husbandry of the State University, as a step in the right direction."

"Be it resolved, therefore, That we extend to the Kentucky Racing Commission, the director of the Experiment Station and to Professors Hooper and Anderson our heartfelt appreciation of their efforts looking to the development of the horse, jack and mule interests of the State, and that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and transmitted to the press and to the Governor of the Commonwealth, in order that the Governor of the State and the People at large may be advised somewhat as to what is now being done to promote the horse, jack and mule interests of Kentucky."

A round table discussion led by Newt Rankin, of Carlisle, and John Marr, of Millersburg, on "The Best Method of Breeding, Rearing and Selling Mules," aroused considerable enthusiasm among the breeders present, many of them rising to ask searching questions of Messrs. Rankin and Marr. Both men urged the Kentucky type of mule as the best for all around purposes. Mr. Rankin, who has had considerable experience in selling mules in other states said the fact that they came from Kentucky made most of his sales successful.

Mr. Marr discussed to some extent the principals by which owners should be governed in seeking a jack to which they would breed their mares to get the best mule colt.

Mat S. Cohen, Commissioner of Agriculture, delivered an able address on "The Outlook for the Horse Market."

"We are now in the midst of the greatest horse famine in this country, that we have ever seen," said Mr. Cohen. "The oft repeated statement that there is no market is untrue. Several prominent horse dealers have told me that they conducted a forty-day campaign over Kentucky looking for good horses several of them having representatives out over the State, and they found a surprisingly small number."

"It is reported that in one small barn in Lexington there are more good harness horses than in all the rest of Kentucky combined. I attribute this situation to the fact that owners of good stallions have made service fees for their stallions, entirely unreasonable. A service fee of $50 to $75 is entirely too much."

"The horse famine can not be blamed on the buying up of animals for the European war, for those men want only an average horse. There is a real scarcity of good horses—and I mean by that a three or five-gaited horse."

"There is also in Kentucky too much of the middle man, the fellow with his ear continually turned toward the railroad station. This has driven more people home horseless, than any other factor. Some men take commissions 'right-handed and left-handed.' A number of big horse buyers from other states, have complained of being 'fleece-d' when coming to Kentucky to get a pleasure horse."

"However, there is one desirable feature, which I want to mention about the horse. There has never been, nor will be, a trust controlling the market for the 'pleasure horse.'"

A nominating committee for officers of the association, composed of John J. Redmon, J. J. Hooper, Claude Williams, Ollie Troutman and Harry Bourgoine, was appointed and reported shortly before the close of the session. Their report was accepted by a unanimous vote.

Mat S. Cohen was elected president; Jerry Tarlton, first vice president; Joe T. Collins, second vice president; W. S. Anderson was re-elected to be secretary-treasurer. The executive committee elected yesterday is composed of J. N. Camden, Shelby T. Harbison, Harry McAfee, Newt Rankin and J. J. Hooper.

The first step to real and effective co-operation between the farmers in solving their marketing problems, was taken yesterday afternoon at the Marketing Conference, when the Kentucky Co-operative Marketing Association was formed, officers elected and a committee appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws.

Frank McKee was elected president; Dr. Fred Mutchler, secretary, and Dr. J. M. Maxon, chairman; Robert M. Allen, Frank McKee, E. M. Lafferty and C. D. Bohannon on the committee for drafting the constitution and by-laws.

Robert M. Allen delivered an able and instructive address on "The Principles of Co-operative Marketing." "Marketing is a business," he said, "and like all trading it becomes profitable only when there is co-operation. By this means the farmers will be able to command a wider market. It must come through an assemblage of the products of live stock to be marketed through co-operative companies and societies."

Professor H. C. Taylor, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at the University of Wisconsin, made a forceful talk on co-operation, telling how effective organization among the farmers of his state had "busted" the big trusts opposed to their interests.

C. C. Thomas, secretary of the Board of Commerce of Somerset, sounded also the vibrant note of "co-operation," pointing out the methods he has used in bringing together the farmer and business man, working toward a common end in Pulaski county. He said the possibilities of Kentucky to advance to the foremost position among states of the Union were wonderful, but that the keynote to this advancement lay in co-operation.

Professor C. D. Bohannon made a preliminary report on "The Present Market Conditions in Kentucky." He followed to a large extent after the example of other speakers urging a close and compact union of the farmers working with a common purpose. But in addition he pointed out examples where communities in Kentucky were benefited by active co-operation.

Dr. James McKee talked also on reasons for an effective organization of the farmers to improve marketing conditions.

An address by W. H. McLaughlin, of Raphine, Va., will be a feature of the Sheep Breeders' Association meeting this morning at the Experiment Station. Mr. McLaughlin is an extensive breeder of pure bred sheep, hogs and cattle, making a specialty of lamb production. He is also a prominent writer and speaker on the subject.

That's what President Terry of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company did after the great New York fire of December 16, 1835, in order to make immediate payment of the Hartford losses.

In the same staunch spirit the Hartford promptly paid out $1,900,000 after the Chicago fire, and $10,000,000 after the San Francisco disaster.

Hartford protection costs you no more than other kinds—and you can depend upon prompt settlement in case of fire. May we tell you more about it?

Who-What-?

In every field of human endeavor the man or the product that excels must forever live in the white light of publicity where envy and emulation are constantly at work.

Whether in art, literature, music, science or industry, excellence brings the same rewards and punishment.

Widespread recognition is the reward, and the punishment fierce denial and detraction.

When a man's work becomes a standard for the whole world, it also becomes a target for envious competitors.

The leader is assailed because he is a leader, and the effort to equal him is the proof of his leadership.

Failing to equal him the follower seeks to depreciate and to destroy—but only confirms once more the superiority of that which he wishes to supplant.

There is nothing new in this. It is as old as the world, as old as human passions—envy, fear, greed, ambition and covetousness.

And it avails nothing. The man or the product that has in them the real qualities of leadership remains the leader.

That which is good or great makes itself known no matter how loud the clamor of denial. That which deserves to live—lives.

WONDERFUL RECORD OF KANSAS

When we think of Kansas we have visions of acres upon acres of tall yellow corn. We see a flat prairie which is a natural farm land for hundreds of miles. We see a hard working and prosperous people who are helping to feed the world. We see strong men and women who have worked together through the terrible heat of summer and made the most prolific farms in the world, but we may not realize the full significance of this splendid achievement of labor.

Here are a few statistics about this state whose prosperity at harvest time concerns us all so closely:

Kansas women have voted on all municipal affairs since 1887 and have had full suffrage since 1913; has but 2 percent of illiteracy; has a death rate of only ten to one thousand and has a prison population of only 740, of whom 40 per cent were non-residents of the state.

Kansas's bank deposits have increased in the last ten years from 109 million dollars to 230 million dollars. Her state tax three years ago amounted to less than .036 an acre, on the average. The bond indebtedness of Kansas is less than ten cents each for every person in the state.

Twenty-eight counties did not have a jail prisoner during all of 1914. Forty-eight counties did not send a person to the penitentiary that year. Seventy-eight counties did not have an insane patient last year. Twelve counties have not called a jury to a trial of a criminal case in years. Twenty counties do not have a prisoner in the penitentiary. Eighteen counties have no poor-farms and had but fourteen children ren paupers cared for by the state in 1914.

These are wonderful figures and should make us pause in our every-day rush to consider. In the first place it is the greatest plea for the "back to the soil" movement which could be imagined. Kansas is primarily an agricultural state and there is small danger of a people in that mass of growing grain, going hungry. Hunger is the parent of crime and disease. What man with an empty stomach can be expected to regard the niceties of our laws which distinguish so clearly between mine and thine?

Another thing, which was not mentioned before, is that Kansas is a prohibition state and all prison experts agree that about 70 per cent of crime comes through drink. There is a direct relation between drink and hunger. Nine times out of ten the man without food to sustain him will pay his last dime for a drink and with some reason. It warms and strengthens him for a short time and gives him a false courage which he can easily mistake for the real thing. Poverty, drink and crime are so correlated that it is almost impossible to separate them.

There is a strong sentiment in the West for equal suffrage. Not much difficulty has been experienced in getting it beyond the Mississippi. We think the reason lies in the fact that the women of the West had the true pioneer spirit and stood shoulder to shoulder with the men while they cut and hewed and dug, showing their splendid courage and womanhood in helping to conquer the wilderness.

The men have not forgotten, and woman has taken a different stand than in the East, where the conventions and trappings of luxury and civilization have partly destroyed her. The woman of the '40s who thought it a charm to be delicate and fragile, to scream at a mouse and faint at the slightest cause, is no more, but our men folk are slow at adjusting themselves to the change. Instead of greeting it with delight, these same men seem to see something strange and dangerous lurking behind it. They are used to the old order and fear the new.

Let them study the Kansas record where women have taken part in the government for many years, and ponder. No homes have gone to smash; no children have been neglected, and the state, as a whole, has made such progress that it deserves a careful study that we may benefit by its example.—Exchange.

W. J. Hill Writes An Interesting Letter On "Ingratitude."

December 15th, 1915.

My subject today is "Ingratitude." My text is found in the 17th of Luke, 17th verse, "And Jesus answering said: 'Were there not ten cleansed, but where are the nine?'"

"Now this is one of the most wonderful things we read of in the Bible. Now at this time Jesus and the disciples were going to Jerusalem, it is not known who else were along, but they passed through Samaria and Galilee, going from the northern part of the country, and as he entered into a certain village there met him ten men that were lepers which stood afar off, and it is said they lifted up their voices and said, 'Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.' A short, but a wonderful prayer, because it meant so much to them, yet only four words. It is not recorded as to whether anyone else heard this prayer or not, but Jesus heard it. And when he saw them, he said unto them, "Go show yourselves unto the Priests." Now here is a test of their faith. It was not lawful for one who had this disease to go among other people, because there was no cure for this disease. So this was a trying time for them. This disease represents sin. Let me stop here and say this—it is no little job for a sinner to come out and make his confession. Some men had rather die than to do this, and it is death or do this, and those ten men knew it was death anyway, so they started to show themselves unto the Priests, and it came to pass as they went, they were cleansed. Get a thought right here that will help you through life—obedience is better than sacrifice.

But the great wonder in the minds of the people is: Why didn't the nine go back and give praise or thanks for the cure? Now I think I can solve this problem for you. First, you must remember that human nature is just the same the world over, and nine of these men were Jews and they knew that their people did not accept Jesus as the coming Messiah, and to go back and give him the praise for their cleansing would let them down with their race of people.

You can see the same spirit or thing in people at this age of the world, so why need you wonder? It just takes a little thinking on your part.

Now the Samaritan was said to be a stranger in the eyes of a Jew. A heathen, you see. So you can see that he didn't have this selfishness in his heart, or pride, as some upper tens call it. But I want you to remember one thing, the nine were never heard of again, but the other fellow was and he was made whole. Glory to God, Jesus not only cleansed his disease, but gave him a clean heart.

Obedience was the cause of the cure on the outside, and his faith and manhood made him whole. Now Jesus said, arise, go thy way, not with the Jews. Will you catch the great thought? We who are Christians are not to go with the world or their ways. Jesus said, come out from among them. Be ye separate saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing. This means to do right. Keep yourself unspotted from the world (James 1-27.) There has been many a man who has failed to give God the glory and praise that was due Him and went on to wreck and ruin, because of some creed or selfishness. So it was with these nine men. Men can be forgiven, sins pardoned, but it takes the baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire to change the nature and make it Godlike. So I would advise all men and women to go on unto perfection, not Adamic or angelic perfection, but Christian perfection and Christ like, you may find the rule in the thirteenth chapter of first Corinthians. I hope by the help of God that this will clear the mist away and let all who read this see the truth.

Your friend in Christ,
W. J. Hill.

I went to one of your Chicago drug stores and got your remedy. I took the remedy and the next morning was relieved. I am getting stronger and can eat anything that comes along."

FOR BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, COUGHS AND COLDS

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 cents.

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as the below named druggists are selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectorant, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say—"Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just the same as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador. If it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of its manufacturer or on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?"

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, because 50c worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at home with simply one pint of sugar and one-half pint of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schiffmann's famous Asthmador of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schiffmann, Proprietor, Saint Paul, Minn. ple that can hardly be excelled, with a missionary zeal that would be hard to duplicate even in our largest and best cities and they show their faith by their works in contributing most liberally to the cause of missions.

In closing will give a brief report of our meeting and say a word about the weather. Our meeting is going forward with increasing interest. Dr. Mann is doing great preaching that is bringing results. About fifty persons have been converted at the altar to date. Our choir is one of the best, accompanied with piano and orchestra of 12 pieces. My, how these people can sing. It seems they almost raise the roof sometimes. I am delighted to have the honor of directing the music in a church like this and in a blessed meeting like God is giving us.

The weather is a little out of the ordinary, 33 degrees below zero is the coldest yet, but the people say it has been some of the most disagreeable weather ever felt in the state. As a usual thing when the thermometer registers so low it is calm and clear, but it seemed that the wind was let loose and for forty-eight hours it blew a terrible gale, making it equal to about 40 or 50 degrees below zero. I must not forget to speak of the snow, for Tuesday evening when I went home from church I waded snow knee deep but I am enjoying it. If my friends at home were to see me in the street with my wet coat and my hair hard frozen and my face red and my hands numb, they would say, "What a fine fellow!" and I would say, "I am enjoying it."

Help them with Doan's Kidney Pills. A remedy especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney troubles for fifty years. Endorsed by 30,000 people--endorsed by citizens of this locality. Monroe Davis, butcher, Earlington, Ky., says: "For quite awhile I had been afflicted with weak kidneys and my back ached intensely. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended I got some and four boxes cured me." Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy--get Doan's Kidney Pills--the same that Mr. Davis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Archie Martin, a girl on the 10th. Emmett Bennett, of Tiline, was in town Saturday. The Str. Dispatch, which was laid up at the wharf here on account of high water, is now making daily trips to Paducah. Mrs. H. B. Bennett went to Paducah Tuesday. W. E. and Mark Dycus are on the sick list. George Daugherty who has been in Missouri for the past few weeks, is the guest of his son, R. A. Daugherty. Mrs. Mike Anderson who has been ill for several days, is reported better, at this writing. GET RID OF THE STUMP

SCHOOLS ARE THE KEYS.

Fine farms, good roads, comfortable homes, and blooded stock in a community are things to have, but they do not necessarily develop good schools for the children of all the people. That this is true can be seen by a day's drive through many of the richest and most prosperous counties in old Kentucky. But good schools, sending out into the community year after year a steady stream of educated citizens, means that they will produce good roads, fine farms, blooded stock, real homes, and every good thing in life. Farm lands without trained brains lose their fertility. Good roads without a real citizenship go to pieces. Fine stock without technical skill loses its value. Real homes without the light of education grow dark and dismal. The school is the only safeguard in our state or in any neighborhood. Fine, strong rural schools and the children on Kentucky's many farms are the keys which alone can unlock the door to a glorious golden future for the Commonwealth.
